LETTER FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Correspondence of the Avalanche

ST. CHARLES HOTEL, NEW ORLEANS, LA., January 25, 1868.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: There is a great number of people in this city at present. They come and go, however, without remaing longer than they find absolutely necessary and while the contents of their light purses last. Thus the hotel remains full, but as changeful as the weather of a spring day in Memphis. I find that there is a sad spirit of depression uttered by every visitor. From every quarter, the news comes that planters will not cultivate a tithe of what they did last year. This will make a barren waste of our once beautiful and magnificent country. Some remedy must surely be found to overcome the difficulties complained of. Planters' Unions and Societies for securing proper laborers, will do much towards recuperation, if they are sensibly and wisely conducted. Let cotton go to the Dutch, and let our people raise food. Down here they can raise ramie, and in sufficient quantity in ten years to break up the cotton culture elsewhere.

The Belle Lee made a great sensation here, as you will see by the columns of notices given by every journal in the city. Every effort will be made to sustain the immense enterprise in which she is engaged, she being in every appointment one of the most popular institutions afloat.

The Rev. Dr. Beckwith has dissolved connection with his church here, and to the intense regret of thousands of people beside his congregation, departs to assume the Bishop's robes in the Episcopacy of Georgia. As a gentleman, scholar and priest, the Bishop has no superior. That he may be beloved, and do as much good in his new field of labor as he did in this, is the affectionate good wish of many beside myself.

During the past week the drama has had great names to interpret it here. Forrest presented Jack Cade to two thousand people. In Lear, his very infirmities of age assist greatly in his personation of the feeble, poor old king. He has drawn immense audiences and filed Old Drury with the elite of the city.

The leg drama maintains supremacy on the boards of the Academy of Music. The two greatest clog-dancers of the age do their feats there nightly. The Clinetop sisters appeared there on Wednesday night, and were received with an ovation and applause that would turn the heads of any danseuses. They are great favorites at the Academy, and turn as many heads as they do pirouettes. Where the people get money enough to fill these theaters nightly is a curious problem. Doubtless they spend it on the principle of dum vivimus, vivamus; which being translated, means:

"Live while you live, the epicure doth say,

At the Opera on Tuesday night, the Dragons de Villars was given, with Madame Audibert as Rose Friquet, and it will make your musical friends mad with desire to hear her, when they learn that she is reputed to have the finest cultivated voice, fuller of ornaments and more exquisitely sweet in its tones than any other new in this country. The repertoire that is scored for representation is unusually attractive. Robert le Diable, Les Huguenots, Rigoletto, etc., promising a musical treat that cannot be surpassed in any country. The machinery, scenery, costumes and special properties of the present opera season, were brought from France, and especially Paris; hence the fact that everything is not only splendidly adapted to opera uses, but also that they make play perfect. That the Opera is the great attraction here, we praise thee, Apollo! Paul Alhaiza and Calabresi!

The black-and-tan canine menagerie still drags its slow length along at the fixed price of ten dollars a day (greenbacks) salary to each member. The members insist by the hour that the Union consists of United States, and that they must deliberately reconstruct the machine. The mongrel affair, half niggers and blacker whites, present the cussedest, oddest show of piebalds ever seen in this section. It is too contemptible to notice, however, any farther.

I have just been overlooking a scene that, if the description is faithful, many of your readers will recognize, and I hope it may bring to them many delightful memories of their sojourn in this delightful city. I spent the last two hours looking from the balcony into the rotunda of the St. Charles Hotel. The late dinner was over when I sauntered thither. The servants were lighting the gas, while the twilight was just casting the faintest gloom and shade over the tessellated pavement. Some half dozen persons were listlessly walking about over the floor. Here a careless lounger sat on the central hot air register, and indolently smoked his fragrant Havana cigar, and leisurely whipped his pantaloon and boot with a switch cane. An old man dozes in one of the large and roomy, sleep-provoking arm chairs for which this celebrated hotel is famous. Opposite him is a town loafer, whose bushy beard, lazy manner and seedy garments indicate that he is in the last stage of toleration in the rotunda. His few acquaintances slightly suffer his nod of recognition, but avoid familiarity with the nondescript. In another week the house policeman will remind him that his tenure for free lodgings and loafing has been revoked here, and the poor devil will disappear. Several persons now come into the door, creak go the hinges, another and another slam, and a dozen or more persons suddenly appear in the scene. A buzz of conversation soon awakens the echoes about and around my perch. The noise gets louder, and the crowd rapidly increases. The lights are turned on very bright; a shuffling and tumbling of baggage is noticed at the porter's stand; a rush is made by the crowd to the hotel register. The cars have arrived, and the 'busses brought their list of passengers. Mose Mason is busy as a bee, providing the new comers with rooms, while an eager throng of lookers on con over the newly registered arrivals. Their curiosity satisfied, and the guests having retired to their dens, the crowd ranges hither and thither. It is seven o'clock, and about two hundred persons crowd the exchange. The noise of conversation is Babel like as it surges and hisses, and is occasionally relieved by a burst of laughter. Little groups of merchants stand apart with a planter or two, and perhaps one or more country dealers in the party. A well dressed man glides about, peering keenly but warily into the faces of the various people. He is a gambler or a roper in, perhaps a pimp. His good clothes and clean appearance cause him to pass as a gentleman (?). Woe to the poor unwary devil who falls into his toils. It will be but another example of the fable of the spider and the fly. Standing by one of the columns is a group of celebrities; several of the prominent politicians of the old school, and about them are the familiar faces of merchants and business men, who have been residents twenty or more years There is not so much life and animation in their looks as there was in the olden times, ere Radical errors cursed the land and blighted their fair city in its wealth and commerce.

The crowd begins to lessen and disperse; very few come, but many go. The business of the hour is over, everybody has seen each other; the groups have disappeared. The gamester has gone with his victim to the tiger's den; the rake to his leman; the merchant to his resort; the fat man to his club; the countryman to the theater; the red-nosed drinker to his bottle and carousals; the reporter to his journal; the steamboat agent to his boon companions; the physician to his patient; the lawyer to his books; the railroad man to his telegrams and maps; the dapper clerk in fashionable make up to his party; the tailor's maniken to his standpost in the opera; the lady killer to his snobby circle; the medical student to his frolic; the spectator to his dreams; the smuggler to his dark haunts; the detective to count his hush-money; the whisky inspector to his ring; the thief to his pals; the fence to his crib; the player to the boards; the musician to his fiddle; the fancy man to his dance; the cabby to his hack; the porters to bed, and the old men to snooze in their cosy resting places by the fire. It is eight o'clock, and the rotunda is deserted and oppressively silent.

What strange scenes have been enacted within that small space. In it I have seen hundreds of the old time gentlemen, and the great men, of noted names, from all sections of the world. There hearts have been broken, and hearts have been cheered with news told in the rotunda, for the world of New Orleans congregates there nightly and the world tells the world the news. There, too, tragedies have been enacted that startled the world with the harsh cry of murder! and down there are blood stains, where I once saw a man suddenly go down in death.

Once noble men there uttered the brave words that told of devotion and patriotism. Alas! the buzzing flies, that hover over and batten on the carcass of a dead country, occupy these places and drone over the words and speeches of their anarchical Convention and its destructive legislation. The mongrels of the black-and-tan Convention have usurped the places where gentlemen once congregated, and they taint the air with their polluting presence, as they caucus for anarchy and the ruin of the land—the devil take them.

COUSIN NOURMA.

LETTER FROM GEORGIA.

ATLANTA, January 22, 1868.

We have had two more days' work from the body misnamed a convention of the people of Georgia, resulting in but little progress toward framing a constitution. The leaders, as I have written you, have something else to do, and the herd follow the leaders. Office and pleasure are the first considerations with the new fledged politicians who find themselves, now for the first time, thrown to the surface, and they are so strong on the scent that it is impossible to divert their attention to anything else. Whether they are on the right trail or not remains to be seen.

The session yesterday was almost wholly occupied in discussing a mode of getting at the civil affairs of the State. This has been the great bone of contention from the beginning. It was finally settled, notwithstanding the untiring exertions of the few Conservatives, by the adoption of a series of resolutions by a strict party vote. The first requests "the legislative department of the Government of the United States to authorize this body to declare vacant the Chief Executive office of the State, and to fill the same, as well as to provide for the removal, through the Chief Executive officer of the State thus selected, of all persons who are hostile to reconstruction, and the filling of such vacancies by said Executive."

To carry this proscriptive measure through, the leaders found it necessary to sweeten it very much. This one of the most adroit of them did by requesting, in a second resolution, relief from all disabilities to the friends of reconstruction under the reconstruction acts, that they may be eligible. Another resolve requests a modification of the test oath, "so as to admit of all persons who have aided or abetted the late war against the United States holding office therein, provided such persons heartily regret the past, and earnestly attached to, and determined to labor for, the reunion of the States on the basis of the reconstruction acts." This is liberal; but will the Radical Congress see it?

The session to-day was principally occupied in "cussing" some of the reporters. Many individual complaints were made by indignant whites and blacks, and a great deal of indignation expressed. Finally the cauldron simmered down to the adoption of a resolution for the appointment of a committee of five to smell out the reporter of the New York Herald, and report to-morrow. I expect the offending reporter will be excluded, unless J. G. B. should happen this way in time to buy up a few votes. It could be done cheaply.

Another remarkable feature was the adoption of a resolution appointing a committee to investigate the past history of one of the delegates—a negro from Savannah. Publications were recently made stating that the colored individual aforesaid been convicted of felony in Brooklyn some years since, and had actually served two years in the Sing Sing prison. The statement was so precise, in giving names, dates, etc., that the charge was definitely fastened. This was too much for even "Loyal Georgians," and accordingly a resolution introduced by a Conservative, instituting an inquiry into the facts, was passed unanimously. Rich developments are expected.

But we are to have a Radical Constitution, fully up to the requirements of the Radical Congress. Every step taken indicates this. Whether it will be adopted is problematical. You may confidently anticipate a glorious fight against it. But the registered majority of whites over blacks is so small, and there are so many traitors among the whites, that there is reason to fear the result. The true white men must make a vigorous effort to influence enough of the sensible blacks to counterbalance the traitors to the white race. I hope this may be done.

WHILOM.

LETTERS FROM BROWNLOW AND MAYNARD.

Brownlow for Paying Bonds in Greenbacks.

Maynard Against It.

LETTER OF GOVERNOR BROWNLOW.

KNOXVILLE, January 20, 1868.

GENTLEMEN: I have expected and intended to be present at the State Convention, to be held on the 22d instant, but the inclemency of the weather and the roughness of the road between here and Nashville, have induced me to remain where I am. You have my best wishes for your success and harmonious action. I have full confidence in your wisdom and patriotism, and feel assured that your deliberations will result in the greatest good to the cause we all so much cherish. Upon the triumph of the Republican party in Tennessee depends both the prosperity of the State and the safety of loyal men. Any proposition looking to a State Convention to amend the Constitution means the overthrow of the State Government, the enfranchisement of the rebels, and the disfranchisement of the colored man. All propositions from rebel sources to adopt universal suffrage mean taking the control of the State out of the hands of loyal men and putting it into the hands of rebels.

The approaching Presidential contest will be one between the great Republican, Union party, composed of the men who stood by the Union in its hour of sorest trial, and faced the enemies of our country upon the field of battle, and the irrepressible Democratic party, composed of the rebellious odds and ends of all parties. The success of the Democratic party, of which I have no fears, will involve the payment of Southern traitors for their emancipated slaves, the payment of the rebel war debt, and the granting of pensions to the widows and orphans of the fallen rebels and rebel soldiers. These issues will be openly discussed during the coming summer by the contending parties; and under the lead of whoever may be nominated by the Republican party at Chicago, we are bound to succeed. Confiding in the wisdom and patriotism of the National Convention, which meets in May next, whether they shall select a military chieftain or a civilian to head the Republican ticket, let us pledge ourselves to a zealous and cordial support of the ticket.

If I were a member of your Convention I would endeavor to have incorported into the platform you adopt a plank to the following effect: That the bonds and obligations of the General Government, which do not expressly stipulate for payment in coin in the acts authorizing their issuance, or in their face, should be paid in greenbacks or legal tenders, and that our delegates to the National Convention be instructed to vote for a resolution in the National platform embracing this proposition.

I have the honor to be, etc.,

W. G. BROWNLOW.

LETTER FROM HON. HORACE MAYNARD.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 18, 1868.

DEAR SIR: Your invitation of December 9th, 1867, to attend the Union Republican Convention at Nashville, on the 22d instant, has lain unanswered in the hope that I might answer it in person. Constant engagement at this period of the session upon the Committee of Ways and Means prevents my leaving. Senator Fowler and Colonel Stokes will be with you, and will carry with them the recorded views of our Congressional delegation.

They may be readily expressed in a few general propositions: First—Harmony among ourselves, and harmonious action with our friends, the land over. Second—The subordination of personal aspirations to public interests. Third—The folly of the friends of the country looking for favor or support from its enemies. Fourth—Political questions cannot be successfully solved regardless of financial and industrial questions. All of which, as they lie in my own mind, would seem to be truisms were they not so frequently treated otherwise.

There is no rock so fatal to a large party like ours in the State and in the nation as dissension, personal rivalries, angry disputes about collateral measures, and generally a disregard of the axiom that when to ride the same horse one must needs ride behind.

The common good requires the peremptory suppression of all such disturbances, even, if necessary, to the cutting off and discarding their authors. No one who thinks more of himself than of the cause he espouses, will, in the end, be of much service to the cause.

For seven years the friends of this government have maintained a severe and constant struggle with its enemies. So far, in spite of open hostility, they have maintained it with success. If any one lesson has been more plainly inculcated by the contest than another it is the utter and inexcusable folly of those who espoused the side of the Union during the war, looking for support, or even toleration from their old rebel enemies. He who does not now see it, could not be cured of it, though he were brayed in a mortar among wheat with a pestle, to cite a high authority. Examples might be arrayed, I should say, without end, had we not just witnessed the latest, if not the last of the series. The Governor of a neighboring State, elected by Union men, and as a Union man, aspired to be a United States Senator. Doubting of his success with his own party friends, to whom he owed all he had ever been, he turned for support to his and their enemies, the disfranchised rebels of his State. It is needless to state by what means his Executive authority and influence restored them to power, first in the Legislature, then in a constitutional convention, and as a result of it in the Supreme Court of the State and the possession of every official station, down to the very humblest. The day of recompense came to him a day of retribution. The Senatorial election was held. His new confederates set him at naught, and conferred the honor upon one of their own number. Let our wise men be admonished.

The strength of a goverment, State or national, is its credit. To sustain this is the primal work of intelligent administration. Public credit depends solely upon the willingness and the ability of the people to meet the public obligations. Repudiation in any and every form is a deadly blight, and any measure that tends logically to repudiation, however slightly, excites instant alarm, and exerts a depressing influence. No people on earth have a greater horror at a breach of the public faith than the Union people of Tennessee; indeed, I may say the Union people all over the country. If their resources are judiciously and economically used, so as to exact from them only a portion of their profits, without encroaching upon the capital, they can respond to every obligation assumed in their name. Let the taxes be so imposed that the industry shall not, by reason of their payment, be any poorer at the end of the year, than at the beginning. With honesty and official integrity to enforce these maxims, those who know how to live by the sweat of the face, and are willing to do it, will have but little trouble in making the ends meet. No others can hope to succeed except by some of the phases of bad government, which, at bottom, is simply a contrivance to enable one man to live in idleness upon the fruits of another man's labor.

With the best wishes, personally, to the gentlemen of the Convention, and the hope that harmony, patriotism and wisdom may attend their deliberations, I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

HORACE MAYNARD.

General H. H. Thomas, Secretary, etc., Nashville, Tennessee.

"D. W. B." (D. W. Bartlett,) the ultra Radical Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post and New York Independent writes the latter paper in his letter for last week's issue: "There is imminent danger of a defeat next autumn; and if our Presidential ticket is beaten, the next House will be Democratic, and all but honor will be lost."

General George A. Custer and Lieutenant Cook have just been discharged, after a protracted examination, at Leavenworth, Kansas. They were arrested on charge of murdering William Johnson, a private in Custer's regiment, on the plains, last summer. It appears that several men deserted from camp one morning, and were pursued by Cook and others, with orders, as was said, to shoot them. When overtaken, two or three of the deserters were wounded, Johnson fatally. There was a conflict of evidence as to the circumstance of the shooting, but the court held it was justifiable.

Suicide of Major Davis at Hong Kong.

NEW YORK, January 27.—A Washington special says Banks will to-day present to the House a report on our foreign relations from the Committee on the Rights of Naturalized Citizens. It says the treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain at the close of the war of independence left unsettled three subjects of international importance: First, imprisonment of seamen; second, right of search; third, the question of expatriation. The latter question is most important of all—on which both the others rest. It still remains unsettled, and under different circumstances it becomes the most important question of the day; and again, foreign Governments attach much importance to the fact that the laws of the United States, as interpreted by its judicial tribunals, sustain their claim to the perpetual allegiance of their native-born subjects. This is one of the many international embarrassments that attend this difficult and delicate question. The report concludes: When all the resources of the Government shall have failed to produce a recognition by other Governments of the principle of public law so long maintained in this country in regard to the rights of naturalized citizens, the President shall be invested with the same authority within our jurisdiction as to the subjects of other Governments that foreign States enforce upon American citizens within their jurisdiction. In case of reprisal or war a State is justified in detaining foreigners against their will, according to VanMartin's law of nations; but it is not anticipated that any such proceedings require it. It cannot be that in this age, when all the political traditions of the middle ages are tumbling, Europe will, at this day, push to extremity her claims.

Secretary Seward states that he does not expect this Congress will pay for Walrussia, but the next one will.

Several members have resolutions ready to offer directing the Secretary of the Treasury to take up an amount of bond holding interest in gold equal to the amount of legal tenders withdrawn during the last year.

The Heral's special says Washburne is perfecting his bill to secure telegraphic postal communication throughout the United States.

Senator Wilson speaks to-day on reconstruction.

NEW YORK, January 27.—The Herald's Havana special correspondent says that Senor Fiallo, the Dominican Commissioner to Jamaica, had to leave moneyless and without obtaining powder or balls. Guyana is pestered with convicts from Cayenne. They have been sent back at the expense of the French Government. At Tervillion 400 Coolies had arrived from China; seven died on the passage.

Major Davis, of Massachusetts, formerly of General Butler's staff, committed suicide at Hong Kong, China, November 24, 1867, by shooting himself in the head. Cause, pecuniary embarrassment.

HEADQ'RS FOURTH MILITARY DISTRICT, (MISSISSIPPI AND ARKANSAS,)
HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS., January 9, 1868.

General Orders, No. 3.]

1. General Order No. 9, series of 1867, from these Headquarters, is hereby so modified and amended as to restore to the civil tribunals, properly having cognizance under the respective statute laws of the States of Mississippi and Arkansas, entire jurisdiction in all ordinary cases of horse-stealing, heretofore made triable under the provisions of that order before Military Commission. In case, however, any person charged with the crime of horse-stealing, and indicted therefor, shall make oath before a judicial officer that, by reason of service in the Army of the United States, or of political sentiments entertained by him, or of his race or color, he cannot have an impartial trial at the hands of the civil authorities—then all action in the case shall be suspended, and the case reported at once to the nearest military post commander, who will cause an immediate investigation to be made by an officer of all the facts thereof. Should there be no military post within say fifty (50) miles of the point, the case will be reported to the Sub-District Commander, who will order the investigation.

If in the opinion of the officer making the investigation, the accused can have an impartial trial before the civil tribunal having cognizance, he will officially notify the proper civil officer—the suspension of the proceedings will cease from that time, and the case will proceed in due course.

But if, in the opinion of the investigating officer, an impartial trial cannot be had in the case before the civil authorities, a full and explicit report of all the facts and of his reasons for his belief, will be forwarded at once to these Headquarters, for the consideration and further orders of the District Commander.

2. The cases of all citizens prisoners now in confinement under military guard, awaiting trial on the charge of horse-stealing, will be at once investigated by the respective commanding officers of the posts at which they are confined, and special report made to the sub district commander of all cases which, in their judgment, will receive impartial justice at the hands of the civil authorities having cognizance. The sub-district commanders are hereby authorized to give the necessary orders and instructions, to cause all such cases to be returned to civil jurisdiction with the least possible delay and expense. A report of the action taken in each case will be forwarded by the sub-district commander for file at these Headquarters.

By command of Brevet Major General Alvan C. Gillem:

O. D. GREENE, Assistant Adjutant General.

Official:
NAT. WOLFE, Second Lieutenant 34th Infantry, A.A.A.G.

TUESDAY, : : : : : : JANUARY 28, 1868

THE AVALANCHE's editorial rooms in a few days will be temporarily removed to the county jail, on Adams street, between Second and Third, where we will be pleased to meet our friends. A swindling vagabond, an unprincipled Judge, dressed in a little brief authority, may trample upon law, usurp authority, and incarcerate us in loathsome dungeons; but thank GOD he cannot chain the mind, the immortal mind which scorns fetters, soars above despotism, and since our right arm is not manacled or palsied, we intend, with our editorial pincers, to make the putrid flesh that covers the rotten bones of our persecuter quiver like a worm in hot ashes. No amount of imprisonment can change our opinion of WILLIAM HUNTER. We repeat here all we have said of him. We accused him of taking straw bail; of receiving as security negroes who had been arrested for vagrancy. We repeat the charge, and what is more, we can prove it. The old swindler knows this, and will not, therefore, permit us to show to the world before the Court he disgraces, that he has arrested us for telling the truth. Conscious that the Constitution and laws of Tennessee give us the right to expose corruption—to denounce an unprincipled Judge upon the Bench as freely as the beggar upon the street—we can well afford to scorn the effort of Hunter to muzzle this press, and defy him to do his worst. When Galileo first announced the rotundity of the earth he was called a heretic and cast into prison. He was kept there for years, and was finally brought before the Inquisition and required to renounce his vagary. When he planted his feet upon the green sward, and felt the pure air of heaven fan his cheek and heard the music of birds, his fortitude left him. He knelt before the tyrants and took a horrid oath, abjuring his doctrines, but on uttering the last word, and placing the Bible to his lips, he exclaimed, "Notwithstanding, the world still moves." The petty tyrant that lifts his head above the Criminal Court bench, like a green gourd above an ash-hopper, may imprison us for a few days, but "notwithstanding" we will still believe that "the earth moves," and that Hunter is a rascal, that he takes straw bail, that he is a corrupt judge, a contemptible knave, a stifler of justice, and a murderer of truth. But this partizan Judge, who adjourns Court and neglects the public business to attend a political meeting, is a miserable tool in the hands of a miserable faction, who are, throughout the Union, making an atrocious war upon free government, the Constitution, the rights of the States and the liberties of the people. The AVALANCHE, for two long years of bitter strife and toil, has warred upon the plunderers who come in our midst to rob and steal, and to claim rights which they deny men born and raised upon this soil. We have shown that these vagabonds pay no taxes; that they never gave a dollar to advance the prosperity of the State, and yet they batten upon the hard earnings of the taxpaying people—making them mere "hewers of wood and drawers of water" to their greedy avarice. It is not surprising that such a gang of thieves should hate the AVALANCHE. HUNTER is made the contemptible instrument—the puny cat's paw—either to muzzle or crush out this paper. Had he the power, and dared to exercise it, he would imitate the olden custom, by putting a ring in our nose and a bridle in our mouth, and drive us like a wild beast through the streets. Tyrants always hate a free and independent press; honest men invite its severest and most rigid investigation and criticism. But tyrants and knaves fear it as the goggle-eyed burglar fears the shrewd detective on his track. POPE and SHERIDAN and ORD, backed by armed and epauletted satraps, arrogated the power to cripple and break down the influence of the press. HUNTER, drunk with undeserved power, loathsome with corruption, mad with lust, and gangrened with party hate, fancies himself a little King in command of the Department of Tennessee; but he will live to learn that he is in a State of constitution and law, and that he is a very small man presiding over a very small court. In times like the present the press has an important duty to perform. It must interpose its shield between tyranny and its prostrated victims. The people must bring to their champion of the press that support which its enemies take from it by arbitrary power. The Southern people have no armies to defend them, and voiceless as they are in the counsels of the nation, the press is the last bulwark of the people, and while they impart to it the strength to be free, outspoken and brave there is no need to despair of ultimate redemption. In this struggle for law and order, for constitutional right, justice, fraternity and equality, we intend to do our duty regardless of consequences. Had we turned lick-spittle, crawled on our bellies, and eat dirt at the feet of HUNTER, we would have been spared the punishment which he proposes, and which we defy. But he is too dirty a dog, too brazen and corrupt in his rascality, for us ever to offer up sweet incense to his dainty nostrils. He may arrogate powers which no potentate of royal origin dare attempt to exercise, but he will end his infamous career of despotism and usurpation with the lesson thoroughly taught him that while "the pen is mightier than the sword," that it is also mightier than the ipse dixit of a small fry Judge, and that while we are restored to our lost liberties, such petty tyrants as he will sink into that oblivion and contempt from which, for his own sake, he should never have emerged. In proportion to the efforts made by a cowardly and unmanly party to crush a free press, the people will rally to its support. Through all the trials and vicissitudes through which the South has passed during the last two years, the AVALANCHE has performed its whole duty, and we look for that liberal support which a steady devotion to truth and justice always commands. We shall continue to labor, as we have heretofore done, with earnestness and zeal for the great principles of Constitutional liberty and law—steadily maintain that this is a Government of Constitutional limitations; and neither the threats or bribes of corrupt power, held by base men, can induce us to betray our principles. We are determined to maintain the name we have earned for candor, courage and zeal. It is to their press that the people of the South must look for the means to prevent the despotism of the dominant majority from utterly destroying the Republic. In that noble work the AVALANCHE will perform its duty.

"FAITHFUL among the faithless," one man has been found in our midst. We allude to Hon. J. O. PIERCE, Judge of the Law Court of this city. Judge PIERCE is a Radical, but he has some regard for his reputation as a lawyer and the oath he has taken to support the constitutions of his country; and yesterday he lifted himself high above party prejudice, arose in all the sublime majesty of an honest man, and a conscientious, upright Judge, and kicked to the dogs the contemptible "contempt" cases which a still more contemptible judge had forced before the courts of the city. We publish in full this morning Judge PIERCE's very able decision in the case of LEONARD vs. DUBOSE. It is confessedly an unanswerable argument, and will receive the highest commendations of every respectable lawyer in Memphis. The decision is terse, logical and unanswerable. It affords us pleasure to do justice to a political opponent, thoroughly imbued with all the vagaries of his party. If Radical office-holders generally would manifest the same regard for right and justice, the Constitution and the law, as the broken bone well set usually becomes stronger than before, so would the Union become stronger by the recent war, and our people cemented together in the indissoluble bonds of a homogeneous race. Poor Leonard! we pity him in his unsated vengeance. He has lived to learn that he cannot carry his Court about in his breeches pocket as an immunity to insult gentlemen who have never sought to wrong him. And Hunter, to his great chagrin, will also learn that he is not a king upon his throne, nor his conduct above the criticism of the public press, whose mission it is to lash corruption wherever found, to extol honest merit, whether developed in friends or political foes. We congratulate Mr. DUBOSE on the triumph of the law in his case, and his victory over the miserable creature who would prostitute his office as the medium through which to avenge a malignity men of courage would scorn. Mr. DUBOSE has made a gallant fight with tyranny, and he has his reward in the plaudits of a community whose liberties were involved in the war he nobly fought and proudly won.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

Loss of the Steamer Emerald—Three Lives Lost.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, January 27.

The Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the District Court of Texas, relative to the Missouri land claims, and which was number one on the Supreme Court docket, having been there at least twelve years. It may be recollected that, for his action in this case, Judge Watrous was charged in the House of Representatives with impeachable offenses, and much testimony taken in regard to the subject. The matter, however, was not concluded by Congress. The opinion announced to-day sustains him in all particulars, thus vindicating his action. The Court also decided a case on appeal, announcing the principle of maritime law to be, that a master has the right to sail his ship in foreign ports, when it can be established that there is necessity to save the interests of all parties interested.

General Howard sent to the Senate a copy of his circular, the latter dated December last, in which he provides, that with a view to recruiting officers and agents of the Freedmen's Bureau, whose services can be dispensed with, it is ordered that, with the exception of Superintendents of education on and after the 15th of February next, all officers and agents in Maryland, Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee be dispensed with; that officers of the regular army be designated by the Secretary of War to take their places, and act as assistant commissioners in those States.

General Howard says a large portion of the Congressmen from Tennessee, and the delegation from Kentucky and Maryland, have personally and in writing deprecated the change, which they say will work injuriously against the educational and other interests of the freedmen.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, January 27.

The steamer Emerald, hence from Cincinnati, sunk at Tunica bend on Saturday. Three lives are reported lost. Her cargo, consisting principally of between five and six hundred hogsheads of sugar, and the boat, are a total loss.

Nothing of importance transpired in the Convention.

Fortieth Congress---First Session.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, January 27.

In the Senate the Chairman submitted petitions from the Constitutional Convention of Georgia, relative to the organization of State Governments in the South; also from the State Constitutional Convention of Mississippi, praying for the extension of the Freedmen's Bureau, both of which were referred to the Judiciary Committee. Also, a communication from General Howard in reply to a resolution of inquiry setting forth the facts in regard to the discontinuance of the Bureau in Kentucky, Tennessee and Maryland.

Mr. Wilson introduced a bill relative to the disabilities of certain persons in Virginia. Referred to the Judiciary Committee. Also a bill to allow officers and soldiers to wear corps badges for services during the war. Referred to the Military Committee.

Mr. Sumner offered a resolution asking the President for information relative to the trial of Rev. Mr. McMahon, Robert Lynch, and others by the British Government. Adopted.

Mr. Trumbull offered a resolution calling for information relative to the disposition of captured and abandoned property.

Mr. Davis offered a resolution that Congress ought to cease its war upon the Constitution in view of the enormous debt, the breaking up of the industrial resources of the people; that the bureau should at once be abolished, the army reduced to 20,000 men, the cotton tax repealed, and the United States bonds taxed. The resolution was laid over.

The Senate then took up the bill for the removal of the disabilities of Robert M. Patton, of Alabama. Messrs. Stewart, Johnson, Pomeroy and Howard supported it, and Messrs. Drake and Buckalew opposed it; the latter, on the ground that he was opposed to special legislation for individual losses, during which the morning hour expired.

The special order being the resolution detailing naval officers to attend the International Maritime Exposition, at Havre, it came up, was debated, and was laid on the table.

The supplementary Reconstruction bill was then taken up. The question was on Mr. Doolittle's motion, instructing the Judiciary Committee to report his amendment.

Mr. Wilson then took the floor.

HOUSE.

A large number of bills were introduced and referred, including the following for the taxation of United States bonds, and giving the right to vote in the Presidential election, and in all State elections, to every citizen of the United States, who has resided ten days in the district, and all appointments of agents of the Government by the President, whose salary exceeds $500, to be confirmed by the Senate, prohibits Revenue officers from being interested in any forfeiture for violation of the revenue laws, and making all purchases and sales of commission for United States loans and bonds open to public competition.

One providing for bounties to the widows and children of certain soldiers killed or died in the service.

One to prevent the compromise of offenses against the revenue laws, and making such compromises felony.

Providing that, in case a Senator of the United States becomes Vice President of the United States by reason of his being President of the Senate pro tem., and in case his Senatorial term of office has expired, he shall continue in office until the end of the Presidential term of office.

Instructing the Secretary of the Navy to dispatch, with a suitable person, to Norway or Sweden, one or more national ships for the transportation of such stores as may be furnished for the relief of the famishing people of those countries.

Giving an increase of twenty per cent. to all the employees of the Executive Department, receiving salaries between $1,000 and $2,000.

By Mr. Cary: A bill to provide a uniform currency, and provides for the management and liquidation of the National debt. Referred to the Committee of the Whole. It provides for the issue of Treasury certificates as legal tenders for all purposes, and cancelling the National Bank currency and the United States legal tenders; also, for the issue of bonds drawing three per cent. interest. All the outstanding bonds, except when payable in gold, to be paid when due, or redeemable in Treasury certificates of three per cent, convertible bonds, and the pleasure of the holders of the Treasury certificates, and vice versa.

By Mr. Cook: A bill to amend the national currency act. Referred to the Committee on Banking. It provides that whenever the national bank bills shall be received by the United States in payment of taxes, etc., they shall not be reissued, but United States notes not bearing interest shall be issued in their stead, whenever a sufficient amount of the notes of any national bank shall be received to pay any of the bonds deposited with the Treasury for the circulation of the bank. If the bonds shall be then redeemable, or if the banks shall agree thereto, the bonds and no less shall be cancelled, but if the notes are to be held until the bonds become due, then the notes and bonds shall be cancelled, and no other circulating medium be issued in lieu thereof.

Mallory offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Ways and Means to inquire into the expediency of authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury

First—To employ all the Legal Tender notes that may come into his possession in excess of the amount necessary to pay the current expenses of the Government, in purchasing at their market value, such interest bearing securities of the United States as he may be able to obtain.

Second—To employ all the gold in the Treasury in excess of $50,000,000, in the same way.

Third—To authorize a loan equal to the whole amount of the present interest bearing debt of the United States, and to issue that amount of funds, running fifty years at four per cent. interest, the principal payable in gold. The loan to be offered only as the gold may be required to pay the current expenses of the Government, and to purchase the present interest bearing bonds.

Fourth—To require the National Banks to place the bonds now on deposit in the Treasury, with such four per cent. bonds. The bill was adopted.

The House then proceeded to consider the bill reported from the Committee on Appropriation to prevent the payment of claims arising out of the rebellion. After a half dozen votes on as many different motions, the bills passed without amendment—yes 86, nays 68.

Mr. Clark, of Kansas, offered a preamble and resolution, reciting that the act of January 4, 1867, which provides that there shall be no denial of the elective franchise in any of the Territories, on account of race, color, or previous condition, and that it is reputed that the Legislature of Montana has passed a bill, which has been approved by the Governor of Montana, restricting the franchise to male citizens, instructing the Judiciary Committee to enquire into the facts, and report such measures as may be necessary to secure obedience on the part of the Legislature and Governor of Montana to the laws of Congress.

Mr. Washburne, of Illinois, suggested that the Committee be instructed to report a bill repealing all the laws organizing that Territory.

Mr. Wilson suggested that the subject be sent to the Committee on Territories, and Mr. Clark so modified the resolution.

On motion of Washburn, of Illinois, a conference committee was appointed on the deficiency bill.

Mr. Banks, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported a bill concerning the right of American citizens in foreign states. Ordered to be printed and recommitted, it being understood that it will be reported back for action this week. It differs from the bill as published in the following particulars: In the first section empowering the President to use his influence and the authority of the Government to secure the recognition of the rights of naturalized citizens. It empowers him to use all resources of the Government in their just efforts to do so; also to accept in some portion all who shall establish and continue their residence beyond the limits of the United States for a term exceeding five years. The third section exempt from the provisions of the act any naturalized citizen who shall fail to make returns of his property to the United States assessor of internal revenue for the district in which he last resided.

Spaulding offered a resolution authorizing the Committee on Reconstruction to inquire whether combinations were made or attempted to obstruct the due execution of the laws, with power to send for persons and papers, examine witnesses under oath and report at any time. Adopted.

Mr. Cavanaugh tried to make a motion, but was cut off by the previous question. He then moved to lay the resolution on the table, which was negatived—ayes 36, nays 123. The resolution was then adopted by a vote of yeas 126, nays 27.

The Speaker presented a number of Executive communications of no general interest. Also a resolution of the Georgia Convention in reference to the reorganization of the State Governments, a removal of disabilities and modification of the test oath. Also one from the Louisiana Convention asking the removal of General Hancock. Referred to the Committee on Reconstruction.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Our city patrons are requested not to pay any one for subscriptions to the AVALANCHE without a certificate from the office authorizing them to collect.

M. C. GALLAWAY & Co.

NOTICE.—The proprietors of the AVALANCHE will from this date (7th day of December, 1867) refuse to pay the individual bills of any person connected with the paper. No debts against the AVALANCHE will be paid unless they originate in the office.

NOTICE—COMMERCIAL BANK.—Those who owe the AVALANCHE for either advertising or subscriptions, previous to November 1st, 1867, can pay the same by checks on the Commercial Bank at par.

NOTICE TO THE PATRONS OF THE AVALANCHE.—Persons indebted to the AVALANCHE previous to the 1st day of December, 1867, will settle the same with L. O. Rives, Esq., attorney at law, No. 303 Main street, over Mansfield's drug store, or collection will be enforced by law on or after the 15th of February, 1868.

COURT MARTIAL.—A general court martial will convene in the Navy Yard this morning. It is for the trial of offenders belonging to the 25th infantry.

COMMITTED.—'Squire Hall yesterday sent Dolly Patterson to jail, in default of $2,000 bail. She stands a good chance to pay Nashville a visit.

ROBBED.—The kitchen attached to the residence of Mr. James Dumars, on Linden street, was entered on Sunday night, and a considerable quantity of provisions carried off.

BEATING HIS WIFE.—W. S Walker was yesterday arrested on the charge of beating his wife. He will be disposed of this morning in the Police Court.

BOUND OVER.—James O. Grant was arrested yesterday, charged with creating a disturbance in Hubertown. 'Squire Miller held him for examination to-day.

STEALING.—Minnie and Belle Thompson were arrested yesterday, for stealing a silk skirt from Mrs. John Grehair, who lives on Alabama street. They will be examined to-day.

THE PICTURE.—In the raffle, last night, for the oil painting, likeness of Father Rocheford, a tie on "eighteen" was made. It was finally won by Dr. Lynch.

THE STREET RAILWAY.—It is currently reported that this institution is considering the propriety of using one-horse cars. This it should certainly do, for our people have long ago voted it a one-horse concern.

DID NOT COME TO TIME.—Hunter did not make his appearance at his Court yesterday. Our "Prophecy" sickened him. He will probably recover in time to put in an appearance on Thursday.

Colonel Ed. M. Yerger, Esq., of this city, was qualified as an attorney on Friday last, of the High Court of Appeals of Kentucky. He appears for Mrs. Jacobs, in the case of Jacobs vs. Jacobs, which involves an amount exceeding $150,000.

MALONE'S FUNERAL.—The funeral of Mr. Thomas Malone took place from his late residence, No. 11 Jackson street, yesterday. The funeral services were had in St. Peter's and St. Paul's Church, after which the remains were conveyed to the old Catholic cemetery.

A FEAT.—Yesterday New Orleans and Plaister Cove, Nova Scotia, were in telegraphic communication, and the operators at the two points exchanged compliments. The distance between the places must be in the neighborhood of four thousand miles.

BURGLARY.—Upon opening their store room, No. 7 Monroe street, on yesterday morning, Messrs. Thurmond, Foster & Co. discovered that their front door had been forced open, and the establishment plundered of ten boxes of tobacco and a large quantity of cigars. No arrests were made.

SIXTH WARD.—Conservative citizens, resident in the Sixth Ward, are hereby requested and urged to assemble at the Waldran Block store room No. 450, on Thursday night, January 30th, at seven o'clock, for the purpose of selecting delegates to represent said ward in the county convention to be held on the 14th of February.

RESIDENT.

ARRESTED.—James H. Wasden was arrested on Sunday for having fraudulently obtained ninety-five dollars from a German woman in South Memphis. It seems that he became aware of her having the money, and persuaded her son, a little fellow of eight years of age, to abstract it and give it to him. He took the specie to a clothing dealer on Beale street to exchange it for currency, which led to his arrest. He will be disposed of to-day.

PERSONAL.—Shirley France, of the New Memphis; John Durf, of the Postoffice; and Mr. Marsh, of Potter's drug store, went on a hunting excursion last Sunday. It is said that at the first fire the dogs, which the party had taken along, were killed, and that Durf and France, towards the close of the day, succeeded in "garroting" a duck.

General Gideon J. Pillow is at the Gayoso House, as is also Judge T. C. Humphreys.

George F. Wood, of Wood & Bro., of Louisville, Kentucky, wholesale boot and shoe dealers, is in town and may be found at the Overton Hotel.

Judge H. T. Elliott and family, of Louisiana, is in town, and may be found comfortably quartered at the Gayoso.

Mr. Edwin Adams took his departure yesterday for New Orleans, to which place he goes to fulfil an engagement at the Varieties.

Col. Zeb. Ward, of Nashville, has arrived in the city, and Colonel Cockrell has him in his keeping.

REVOKED.—We take great pleasure in publishing the following order which, revoking as it does general order No. 39, will prove quite a consideration to the people of Vicksburg and the surrounding country:

THE CRIMINAL COURT ROOM TRAGEDY.

Mr. Thomas Malone, who was shot on last Friday evening, in the Criminal Court room, died on Sunday morning, after suffering great agony. On Saturday he made the following dying declaration before Commissioner Burditt, of the Metropolitan Police:

I, Thomas Malone, believing that I am in a dying condition, that dissolution is inevitable at an early period, from the wounds inflicted by a pistol shot, make this, my dying declaration, to wit: On the 24th day of January, whilst in the Criminal Court room, in the city of Memphis, State of Tennessee, John Cosgrove shot me. I did not make any attempt to strike him, and did not make any demonstration upon or against him. He had no reason for doing this. This is correct.

THOMAS X MALONE.

Witness—W. F. GREEN.

A. P. BURDITT,
Acting Superintendent Metropolitan Police.

THE HABEAS CORPUS CASE.

Captain DuBose and Major Somerville Discharged from Custody.

On yesterday the above named gentlemen were released by the decision of Judge Pierce from the illegal and outrageous restraint put upon their liberty by order of the Chairman of the late County Court, Thomas Leonard. The jurisdiction of Leonard, in matters of contempt, have been placed in proper bounds by Judge Pierce—it being simply a fine of ten dollars. We would like to know where Leonard obtained so great an idea of his own importance and power. Not, certainly, from the Code of Tennessee or any other laws of the State. He must certainly have been following in the wake of the Criminal Court, and raided with it into the Common Law of England, dragging up the infamous decisions of tyrannical judges of olden times, for the purpose of enlightening American citizens as to the immense importance of all judges, both great and small—including, of course, the Chairman of the so called County Court. Suits for damages will probably teach Leonard what he never knew, and that is—law.

CONCERT.—The concert for the benefit of St Mary's Church will take place on Thursday. From the arrangements made, we think we can guarantee that it will be one of the finest of the season. The best amateur talent of the city will be present, and participate on the occasion.

CONTEMPT.

Judge Thomas Leonard vs. Decency.

Colonel Julius J. DuBose Discharged.

Judicial Tyranny Defeated.

The Honest Opinion of an Honest Judge.

We know that our readers will peruse the following with feelings of unmingled gratulation, and we risk nothing when we make the assertion that nine men out of every ten in the community will indorse it. Verily has a Daniel come to judgment. All honor to the honest Judge:

The petitioner filed his application for the writ of habeas corpus, alleging an unlawful imprisonment by the Sheriff of the county in pursuance of a writ or order of the County Court of Shelby county, on a judgment for contempt, and which was claimed to be an illegal and unauthorized process. The writ being granted by this Court, the Sheriff made his return, setting out and presenting the original writ or order of commitment, substantially as set out in the petition, and which is as follows:

COUNTY COURT OF SHELBY COUNTY.

To the Sheriff or Jailor of Shelby County:

You are hereby commanded to take the bodies of John Somerville and J. J. DuBose, who have this day been found guilty by this County Court of Shelby county for a contempt of this Court, in assaulting the Judge of said Court, for acts done in the discharge of his official duty, and each of said defendants fined in the sum of ten dollars each, and committed to jail until the said fines and costs are paid, and ten days thereafter, and until they purge themselves of the contempt committed in this case.

Given under my hand, etc., at Memphis, in said county, this 18th of January, 1868.

THOMAS LEONARD, Judge. [L. S.]

Attest:
JOHN LOAGUE, Clerk.
January 18, 1868.

To this return the petitioner demurred, setting out several items of alleged insufficiency in the process and proceedings of the County Court. The office of the demurrer in such cases is to impeach the sufficiency of the return upon its face. The counsel for the County Court joining issue in demurrer, the question before the Court is the sufficiency and regularity of the process and proceedings of that Court, as the same are set out in the return, and without reference to the extrinsic matters alleged in the petition, which cannot be considered in this investigation.

The whole case has been fully and ably argued by the counsel, upon all the points which are urged as objections to the process of commitment. A careful consideration of one or two only of these objections might perhaps enable the Court to determine the case. But the importance of the subject, and a due sense of respect for the ability and earnestness with which counsel have argued and urged their views of the principles involved in the case in its various aspects, must be the excuse for passing in review these several objections.

Several formal defects are pointed out in the process of the County Court. It is urged that it is an unprecedented writ; follows none of the forms known to the law, and is not properly issued and tested. Without specifying these objections in detail, it is sufficient to say that the current of authorities, both in England and America, as cited by counsel very generally forbid a condemnation by any court of the form of the process issued by another court over which it has not appellate jurisdiction, as this court has not in this case. Though there are no adjudications by our own Supreme Court upon this question, owing to the paucity of contempt cases appearing in the reports of their decisions, yet we find this weight of authority supplemented by the provisions of the habeas corpus act. Section 3752 of the Code directs the Court granting the writ of habeas corpus to disregard formal defects in any process by which the applicant for relief may be held, and to recommit him if satisfied that he is confined for good cause. So this Court is compelled to disregard such formal defects in this case, and to recognize the right of the county Cout to couch its process in language of its own selection, however novel or unartificial, providing its proceedings and process be otherwise substantially correct.

The Court is further urged to adjudge this process insufficient, because it does not show that the petitioner had notice of the proceeding for contempt, and an opportunity to defend or purge himself—and further, because, as claimed, the facts stated are insufficient to constitute a contempt of the Court under the provisions of section 4106 of the Code. The Court is asked to presume that the judgment was rendered in the absence of the petitioner because there is no allegation that it was in his presence—that he had not been before the Court because the Sheriff is commanded to go and take him—that the assault mentioned was committed out of Court because it is not stated to have been in Court, and that therefore such assault was no contempt because it was made upon the man only and not the Judge. These objections the Court will for convenience consider together. They present for consideration and open for discussion the whole vexed question of the presumptions arising in Courts of justice against the proceedings and judgments of other Courts—a question generally acknowledged by the jurists and text writers as one of exceeding difficulty in its complications. Some of the difficulties in the present case may be enumerated.

The county Court is in some respects a Court of general Jurisdiction.—[Brien vs. Hart, 6 Hum., 131; Mankin vs. The State, 2 Swan, 206.] In others it is a Court of special jurisdiction. As to its powers over probate and administration, it would not be considered an inferior jurisdiction. Similar Courts are not so considered in Pennsylvania, Maryland, or Alabama, though they are in New York.—[Hudson, habeas corpus 369.] In several States the Courts of Justice of the Peace are held to be superior Courts.—[Heard, 369.] And while their jurisdiction in Tennessee is a limited one, yet by the Code, every intendment is in favor of the regularity and sufficiency of their proceedings. As to contempts, the general common law rule that every Court is the sole and exclusive judge of its own contempts, must here be taken in connection with the provisions of the act of 1830, regulating contempts, which are perpetuated in section 4106 of the Code, and which limit the power of every Court to punish for contempts to certain classes of acts. These being a modification of the common law doctrine of contempts, furnish, it is claimed, the sole authority upon this subject, inasmuch as proceedings in contempt are quasi criminal in their nature, and by the rules applicable in criminal cases, the common law doctrines are entirely abrogated. But by sections 4,099 and 4,100, a general grant of jurisdiction is given to courts over their own contempts, and the restrictions named are then made, and not upon the judgments of contempts, but upon the punishments therefor. How far this might be considered as a legislative intention to preserve generally all the common law rules in contempt cases is another perplexing phase of this question, and were the present jurisdiction of contempts in Tennessee admitted to be special and limited, we learn from one authority that a court may be limited and subordinate in its jurisdiction, and yet not be an inferior court in the sense that it ought to certify everything precisely. [1 Saund., 74—Hurd on Habeas Corpus, 368.]

Without attempting in the present instance to settle these difficulties, the Court is led to ask: If the presumptions urged by the counsel for the petitioner can be entertained, why not as well presume that no notice of the proceedings in contempt in this case was necessary to be stated; that the acts charged were done in open court; that they did constitute a contempt, and that the judgment was then rendered and entered—all of which would consist with what is stated in the process? Certain acts are there recited; we are told that the County Court has set in judgment thereon, and pronounced them a contempt, and if acts could possibly be within the restrictions of the statute, should not our presumptions be that they are? If there were other and extrinsic facts before the Court for its consideration, a different conclusion might be reached; but we are confined by the demurrer to the process itself; and in the opinion that if any state of extrinsic acts is to be supposed, it should be such as to sustain the judgment and proceedings of the County Court; if any such can be adopted, the Court is inclined to dismiss these objections.

The objection that this process does not run in the name of the State, is a more formidable one, in view of the Constitutional provision that all writs or other process shall so run. It is contended, in reply, that the order in this case is neither a writ nor a process; but as it embodies a command to "take the body," it must be considered either a capias or an attachment. It contains no express command of commitment, and could hardly be used to justify an imprisonment; but this point was not argued by the counsel, who considered it either a mittimus or an order to imprison, for one of which also it was evidently intended. In either case, it is clearly a writ or process, and subject to the Constitutional requirements. In the case of the Mayor and Aldermen of Nashville vs. Pearl (11 Humphreys, 249,) the Supreme Court held a corporation distress warrant to be a process, and absolutely void, because not running in the name of the State; and there can be but little doubt that the same reasoning would be followed, and the same conclusion reached in this case.

The objection is further made that the imprisonment inflicted by the County Court was illegal in each of its three several forms, all being without warrant of authority under the statute of contempts. The only question to be considered in this connection is as to the construction of that statute. It is urged that the use in section 4,107 of the words "not otherwise specially provided by law," leaves the courts open to all the modes and extent of punishment for contempts known to the common law. But this construction would clearly render the work of the Legislature, in enacting this statute, superfluous. It is not, upon its face, a simple reaffirmance alone of common law principles. Whatever may be thought of the intention of the Legislature as to the jurisdiction which courts might entertain generally of their own contempts, it is evident that they intended this statute, following closely as it did after the decision in ex parte, Martin, 5 Yerger, 456, as a limitation upon the courts, both as to the classes of contempts which they might punish, and the nature and extent of such punishment; and this court can only construe the clause cited as referring to punishments expressly authorized by statute. By section 4,107, the Supreme, Circuit and Chancery Courts may punish by fine not exceeding fifty dollars, and imprisonment not exceeding ten days, and all other courts, the County Court not excluded, are limited to a fine of ten dollars. There is no grant of power to imprison for the non-payment of the fine, either express or by implication. The judgment of the County Court in his case, beyond the fine of ten dollars, is therefore void. By section 4,108, if the contempt consists in the non-performance of a certain act, to which the party has been commanded by the Court, and which it is still in his power to perform, he may be imprisoned until he performs it. By section 4,109, where the contempt consists in the performance of a forbidden act, (meaning clearly one forbidden by some rule or order of the court,) the party may be imprisoned until he shall place matters and person in statu quo, if it be possible for him to do so, or pay damages. But neither of these provisions authorize an imprisonment till the party be purged of contempt, as commanded by the process in this case. The act done was an aggressive one, for which the party was convicted of contempt, and fined; and the punishment by fine of ten dollars exhausted the power of the County Court to punish for contempt in this case. If these views are correctly entertained by the Court, it follows that the imprisonment until payment of the fine, and for ten days thereafter, and until the purgation of the party from contempt, were each and all illegal and unauthorized, and that the petitioner is not legally held in custody under the process commanding such imprisonment.

The authority of the Court to make this investigation was seriously questioned in argument, and authorities were cited showing that whenever a return to a writ of Habeas Corpus shows the party to be under commitment for contempt, the return is held sufficient and the party must be remanded. But to this correct general proposition the leading authorities will all be found to admit an exception, where "such gross defects appear as render the proceeding void." Such are apparent in this case. The right of the party imprisoned to prosecute the writ, is guaranteed by the Habeas Corpus Act, which also determines the duty of the Court in the premises. In the case ex parte Martin before referred to, the Supreme Court say, "No doubt a party unlawfully imprisoned for contempt could obtain relief by the Constitutional writ of Habeas Corpus." This, though but an obiter dictum, is strong language; and the circumstances of that case render it so nearly in point as to make it a safe index of the views of the Supreme Court upon the question of relief by Habeas Corpus in contempt cases.

But this duty of the Court, though clear, is an exceedingly delicate one. Opposing rights and interests are involved, and on both sides, of the most commanding importance and the highest consideration in all judicial tribunals. On the one hand, the citizen calls for the protection of his liberty, given to him as a birthright, and guaranteed by venerable laws and charters. On the other, the Courts established by the people of the Commonwealth for the protection of all their rights and interests, and the redress of their wrongs, even such as this at bar, appeal for such countenance and support as will enable them to care for the interests and administer the laws of the people of the Commonwealth, undisturbed by faction or violence, and free from forcible assault or persistent annoyance. To respect the rights of each to the same extent as recognized by the law, has been the aim of the Court in this investigation.

The celebrated contempt case of John Van Ness Yates, which arose in New York in 1808, and was reported in its various phases in 4, 5, 6 and 9 Johnson's Reports, has been cited in argument on both sides of the present case, more, doubtless, for the benefit of the opinions of the learned men constituting the Courts that heard it, than for its value as authority; for the decisions of the Supreme Court, over which the illustrious James Kent then presided, were by turns reversed and affirmed by the Court of Errors, so that the case is of but little value as authority. The Supreme Court of Tennessee, having, in a case cited in 6 Yerger, in which reference was made to a similar reversal of Chancellor Kent's decision by the Court of Errors, followed him as an authority, and extolled his legal opinions as of more value than those of the political Court which so often overruled his decisions, this Court feels authorized in like manner to call some of his opinions in the Van Ness case, as supporting some of the positions here assumed.

In the first report of that case in the Supreme Court, in 4 Johns, the Chief Justice held a process irregular in form sufficient to commit for contempt, because sufficient in substance. He further said: "If this Court is to review the legality of the conviction in chancery, we ought at least to give the language of it a sound and liberal interpretation, and every reasonable intendment should be made in support of the jurisdiction of that court." [4 Johns, 366.]

The old common law authorities, as collated by the industrious Mr. Hurd, in his work on habeas corpus, are to the same purport:

"A proceeding defective for irregularity, and one void for illegality, may be reversed upon error or certiorari; but it is the latter defect only which gives authority to discharge on habeas corpus."

"Irregularity is defined to be the want of adherence to some prescribed rule or mode of proceeding; illegality is, properly, predicable of radical defects only."

"It would be irregular to sentence a man to imprisonment in his absence, when the absence was occasioned by the order of the court; it would be illegal to sentence him to imprisonment for a crime punishable by a pecuniary fine only." [P. 333.]

Courts of justice have always been jealous of their own and each other's rights, and must always continue to be so. The necessity for this mutual support and encouragement was happily illustrated by Chancellor Kent, in the same case, before cited (4 Johns, 375), in the following language: "The judicial is, from its very constitution, the feeblest department in the Government. It is so checked and so controlled that it cannot essentially abuse its powers. Sound discretion must use and apply the power we have been considering [of punishing for contempts], and sound discretion is and must be confided to the highest tribunals on this subject. The trust is given to the courts, not for themselves, but for the public, who are deeply interested in the preservation of this power in its accustomed vigor."

Concurring with these views, and entertaining the most anxious solicitude for the preservation of the rights of all courts, and making "every reasonable intendment" in favor of the jurisdiction, proceedings and process of the County Court, this Court has arrived at the conclusions before stated. It follows that the petitioner is entitled to be discharged.

LAW COURT—James O. Pierce, Judge, etc.—In the case of alleged contempt of the County Court, Mr. J J. DuBose was discharged from custody. In the same case, the petition of Major John Somerville was heard, and the same order made therein.

One hundred and seventy-five appeal cases were dismissed for want of prosecution, and the judgments below affirmed. The habeas corpus case of Joseph Behr, who was arrested, some days since, on requisition of the Governor of Missouri, was called up for further hearing. It will be remembered that at the former trial the Governor's warrant was declared defective, and Mr. Behr held under bonds to answer a new remand. This was produced on yesterday, by Gray, the agent from Missouri, and a demand made for the defendant, Behr. The Attorneys of Behr put in a plea of non est factum, declaring that the warrant was not signed by Governor Brownlow, but by some other person in his name. After some argument the Court ruled that the case would be called up this morning, and authority heard as to the necessity of the signature by the Governor in person; in the mean time, the defendant to remain in the custody of the Sheriff, bail being refused.

No other special business has been set for to-day.

HEGEMAN'S GENUINE MEDICINAL COD LIVER OIL.—Our oil has stood the test of twenty years' experience, and is warranted pure New Foundland oil. Its superiority over that prepared on our own seashore, is shown by the numerous cures performed by it when the inferior oils had been tried without effect. Prepared by Hegeman & Co., chemists and druggists, New York. Sold by druggists generally. 1m

THE OPERA.—The Lotti opera combination will open to-night. There is no doubt but that the troupe is composed of good materiel, and that the music of everything which will be upon the stage will be well rendered.

COAL.—We received, a couple of days ago, a specimen of coal taken from the mine of the Wilcox coal company, in East Tennessee, and we must say that in all the essential characteristics of good fuel, it might have been mined in Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, for it certainly was the nearest approach to the Pittsburg black diamond we have ever seen. If East Tennessee can produce in any abundance such coal as this, the future of Tennessee, as a manufacturing center, is assured.

Madame Leicse's soiree will come off on Wednesday, the 29th instant, weather permitting, at her assembly rooms, 221 Second street.

Cotton not called for within twenty-four hours will be stored at the risk and expense of the consignees.

MILLINERY GOODS AT AUCTION.—W. H. Passmore & Co. sell, this morning, by order of the Municipal Court, a stock of bonnets, ribbons, trimmings, and millinery goods in general; also, some fine show cases; also, at three o'clock this afternoon, the fixtures in the store on the west side of Main street, in the Greenlaw block, corner of the alley, between Union and Gayoso streets.

STILL IN TOWN.—We are requested to inform the ladies of Memphis that although Madame Gullmard has left town, her sister, Miss Josephine, is still here, and ladies wishing anything in the hair-dressing line performed will find her at the Goodall House, No. 63 Jefferson street. This is important to them, because, as the opera season will commence to-day, many who have been beautified under the manipulations of Miss Joe will be glad to know where to find her.

JOE LOCKE, No. 22 Jefferson street, has on his counters all the principal New York dailies, the Cincinnati Enquirer, the Chicago, Louisville and St. Louis dailies, the comic magazines, Putnam's Galaxy, Harper's, Demorest's, Leslie's, Godey's, and other magazines, French, German, Irish and English weeklies, the scientific, sporting, spiritual, literary and agricultural papers. Call and see his stock. He has an excellent supply of literary periodicals, both American and European.

CENTRAL HOTEL.—The old and popular Hardwick House, 63 Adams street, has of late passed into the hands and management of Messrs. Medlin, Rutledge & Co., formerly of Brownsville, Tennessee. Of the central and accessible position of this house it is needless to speak, for the old Hardwick is as familiar to the public as household words. Its present management, we are sure, will be everything the most fastidious could demand, as the proprietors will spare neither pains nor expense to make it equal to the best hotels in the country. See card and list of prices.

Emmons & Son, No. 10 Jefferson street and 393 Main street, have received the New York Clipper, Metropolitan Record, Turf, Field and Farm, Irish People, Irish Citizen, Criminal Zeitung, Kelly's Weekly, Last Sensation, New York Ledger, Chimney Corner, Literary Album, Banner of Light, Boston Pilot, Police News, Police Gazette, Harper's Bazar, Harper's Weekly, Frank Leslie, Jolly Joker, Waverley Magazine, Wilkes' Spirit, La Crosse Democrat, New York Mercury, Sunday Mercury, Southern Opinion, Godey's Lady's Book, Putnam's Magazine, Lippincott's Magazine, Old Guard, Harper's Magazine, all for February; London Society, Hunt's Magazine, North American Review, Every Saturday, all for February, and dailies from everywhere. Also a lot of new valentines, from fifteen dollars down to ten cents.

FARGASON, CORDES & CO.—Amid the general depression in all business circles, and the almost universal cry of hard times heard throughout the length and breath of the country, it is intensely gratifying to notice that some of our leading and most substantial firms are still in the midst of flourishing, prosperous and lucrative trade. Eminent amongst these stands the substantial and extensive firm of Fargason, Cordes & Co., No. 328 Front street. Firmly founded on large and available capital, the long, able and practical business experience of all the members of the firm, past and present financial storms have been unable to make the slightest impression upon it. Correct business principles have ever governed this house, and whatever disasters may befall others, it will stand unshaken to the end. Of course these favorable circumstances enables them to sell on most accommodating terms, and therefore those desiring the lowest prices would consult their interest by giving them a call. See their card in another column, announcing important arrival of fresh groceries and other important goods in their line.

JOB PRINTING.—Most of our readers, but more particularly in the commercial line, have need in conducting their business of the various forms of blanks, bill heads, cards, and bills of lading, which nowadays enter into the daily transactions of commercial life. The Franklin Job Office, on Court, is now, and always has been, prepared to supply all with such necessaries. Everything, from the commonest job to the finest printing done in the country, this office is prepared to furnish. Everything which goes to make up the essentials of a good job of printing is found in the office, and punctuality is their watchword. Give the Franklin, at No. 17 Court street, a call.

Those who live in glass houses should never throw stones at their neighbors'. The howls of petro oil men are tremendous. Their attempts to supersede coal oil are about as effective as that of the dog that barked at the moon. The economy and utility of coal oil are too well known to require recommendation from any one. The right (so called) to make and sell petro oil in Memphis, was offered repeatedly to nearly every regular coal oil dealer in it, and as often declined. It was then hawked about the streets to everybody, until some one was found verdant enough to bite at it. And if the party who at last did obtain the right, has not burnt his fingers in the business, his partner did, one day, while using or handling his famous petro oil. A lady on Washington street was badly burnt by petro oil recently. Caldwell & Co., at Trenton, Tennessee, bought a barrel of petro oil, and took it in their store. Next morning, nothing but ashes marked the spot—building and goods totally destroyed—all caused by petro oil. No one can get insurance on building or store if it is known that petro oil is used in it, or on storage. Consumers of it had better note this, otherwise, insurance policies they now have will prove to be violated, and consequently null and void. Call at No. 40 Jefferson street, lamp and oil store, for any further information. 2t

If you want genuine liquors, go to D. Zweifel's 31½ Adams street. Go and try it. 3t

RIVER NEWS.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
TUESDAY, January 28.

BUSINESS—WEATHER—RIVERS.

Weather cold. The river came to a stand yesterday evening. The Ohio is rising slowly, from Pittsburg down to Louisville, with six and a half feet in the canal. The river is full of heavy, running ice, with navigation impeded between Louisville and Pittsburg. The Cumberland is contributing quite freely, with another rise of six feet at Nashville. At St. Louis the river is clear of ice, but gorged at St. Mary's and St. Genevieve, and navigation between there and Cairo remains suspended. White river is falling, with five feet in the channel to Augusta. The Arkansas remains at low tide, with two feet in the channel, and little business doing in the river.

IN PORT.

Eau Claire, Commercial, Centralia, Guidon.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The landing yesterday was almost destitute of draymen and laborers, with no local packets in port doing business. The weather was cold, with several attempts to snow.

The Eau Claire arrived from Hatchie river, with 190 bales of cotton.

The Des Arc, yesterday, brought in 526 bales of cotton, and seventy passengers. She will leave for a return trip to White river on Thursday.

The Nick Longworth and Swallow passed up for the Ohio river on Sunday.

The Dexter, Grosbeck and Sam J. Hale are due from the Ohio, and will be in port to-day.

The Laurel Hill is due, upward bound for Louisville.

Mr. Good, the efficient Wharfmaster, notified the proprietors of the wharf-boats moved to the landing, yesterday, of the ordinance passed by the Board, compelling their removal from the wharf within fifteen days.

Captain Jack Horne, a worthy and amiable gentlemen, is doing the clerical business for Messrs. Levy & Miller, steamboat agents. Captain Jack is an energetic and prompt business man.

The John Kilgour leaves to-day, at five p.m., for New Orleans.

The Mississippi passed down last evening, from Cairo for New Orleans.

The Chris. Damon reported killed at Cairo is not the New Orleans and Louisville pilot, as Chris. stood his regular watch yesterday morning on the Belle Lee.

The weather along the Ohio is cold and freezing, and making another crop of ice, which is quite heavy as far down as Evansville, and forms a great impediment to navigation.

The Commercial, Captain Wm. Ashford, is the regular Tuesday White river United States mail packet. She leaves at five p.m., and goes through to Jacksonport, connecting at Duvall's Bluff with the cars for Little Rock. Charley Smithers, a genial and clever gentleman, does the honors of the office.

The General Quitman is the regular Thursday packet for New Orleans. She will be found at the wharf to-day ready to receive freight.

The Mollie Hambleton, Captain Bowman, is the regular Tuesday St. Francis river packet. She leaves for Wittsburg to-day at five p.m. Messrs. Paine, Clarke and Schell are her gentlemanly and attentive clerks.

A case of some importance to shippers, as well as steamboatmen, was heard before Esquire Walker, at Evansville, recently. The suit was brought by Henry Gumberts, against the owners of one of the packets. The plaintiff alleged that he had shipped goods on the boat, with the instruction to collect charges; that the goods had been delivered, and charges collected, but never paid over. The defendant claimed that the clerk of the boat had no authority to collect the charges, and that the boat could not be made responsible for them. Defendant admitted that the clerk had probably collected the charges, but stated that the boat had been robbed of the money. The case was argued before a jury. The jury could not agree, and so the case rested.

The Julia is to be lengthened and widened.

A late Shreveport dispatch reports another brisk rise in Red river.

The Belle Lee passed up yesterday morning for Louisville with 400 tons of freight and sixty head of mules.

The Southerner arrived from New Orleans yesterday morning with 600 tons of sugar and molasses. She discharged a few lots here and left for Louisville last night.

The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce is on the rampage, with meetings looking to the enlargement of their levee. If times do not get better, and Radical rule continues, they will not use one-half their present levee.

Heavy ice was running in the Ohio as far down as Evansville on Saturday.

Experienced navigators, plying between New York, Key West, Havana and New Orleans, report the current along the Florida reefs to have increased from three and a half miles per hour to five miles per hour—almost drawing a steam vessel upon the reefs. They report that never has the like occurred before. Previous to the earthquake at St. Thomas and the partial submersion of the island of Tortola, they had no trouble in running by these reefs; but now it is with difficulty they can, running on the same latitude and compass, keep their vessels from being drawn in upon the reefs.

An old steamboatman, who has traveled the Ohio for years, says that the current of that stream has recently increased wonderfully in swiftness. The late freshet subsided more rapidly than any previous one.

The Peerless, from Memphis, arrived at Cincinnati on Friday. She spent sixty hours aground at the head of Vevay Island.

Captain J. L. Maginnis, late of the Mary Erwin, expects to have a boat in the Cincinnati and Arkansas river trade, shortly.

The Mississippi Tallahatchian of the 23d, in speaking of Memphis, gives the following complimentary notice of the Worsham:

"This House continues to be the leading Hotel in Memphis. Its numerous, spacious and commodious rooms are constantly crowded with guests. We advise all who want good and clean beds, neat and attentive servants, and the best fare in the South, to go to the Worsham House. You will never fail to find a host of Mississippians at this Hotel."

MONETARY.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE
TUESDAY, January 28, 1868.

The money market for the week opened quiet with little animation exhibited in financial circles. Money continues to rule stringent with little doing in the discount market.

GOLD—At New York was quiet at 140⅝. The market here was steady, buying at 138@138½.

SILVER—Firm and steady, buying at 127@129.

EXCHANGE—Is in fair supply; buying at ½c off, and selling at par.

CITY SCRIP—The market yesterday was firm, with holders of scrip unwilling to sell at less than 50c. Dealers were buying at 47@48c. and selling at 50c. There was an active demand for small pieces, with little on the market.

POLICE SCRIP—Is firm and scarce, buying at 82c, and selling at 85@87.

COUNTY WARRANTS—Is dull, with a light demand; buying at 63@65c, and selling at 70c.

COMMERCIAL.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
TUESDAY, January 28, 1868.

Trade in the leading market yesterday was languid, with only a small city trade doing in provisions and breadstuffs. Corn is in better supply, with a higher demand and prices nominal. Oats and hay are in full supply. Mess pork is scarce with little on the market, with prices stiffening. Dressed hogs in fair demand, with prices better. Flour steady with small trade doing. Groceries unchanged. The local packets from White and St. Francis rivers will bring a fair list of orders for plantation supplies, which will be filled to-day.

Cotton.

The market yesterday was firm with an active demand for middlings, which are scarce. The stock of fine grades is quite small, while lower grades are in good supply. In view of this holders of middlings advanced their rates during the day from ¼ to ½c. The offerings were fair, with sales for the day of 800 bales; middling, 17@17¼c; strict middling, 18c; good middling 18¼@18½c; low middling, 16@16½c; good ordinary, 15¼@15½c; ordinary, 14@14½c. The Liverpool market closed steady, with uplands at 7¾@7⅞d; Orleans, 8@8¼d. Sales for the day 12,000 bales. The New York market closed firm, with sales of 2,000 bales; middlings, 18¾c; Orleans, 18¾@19c. Shippers and buyers were compelled to check operations owing to the want of tonage or freight room. The market here closed firm, at the following quotations:

Ordinary	14 @14½
Good Ordinary	15 @15½
Low Middling	16 @16½
Middling	17 @17¼
Strict Middling	17½@18
Good Middling	18½

Dry Goods in New York.

In brown sheetings and shirtings there is a better feeling, and a slight stiffening up of prices, but without any marked activity in the demand, for this class of goods. The manufacturers' agents show no particular anxiety to press sales at the present rates. Better prices are confidently looked for next month, and it is highly probable that such anticipations will not be disappointed. In bleached goods there has been considerable improvement, and popular styles of shirtings have been in better demand at fair prices. Medium and low grades are firmer, and on the whole line of bleached fabrics there is a firmer feeling. New York mills have sold at 31½c, and Wamsuttas at 29c. for 4 4. Drills are not active, but they are in better demand than they have been. Cotton flannels are held at unchanged rates. Cotton bags have been in better request, and prices are firmer. Corset jeans are still dull, and the prices of the lower grades are hardly maintained. Stripes and ticks are without any material change. Denims and cottonades have improved somewhat in the better qualities, but the low grades are neglected. There is considerable activity in prints. Agents are closing out their stocks of dark goods; and the new light styles, some of them being very tasty and attractive, command attention. The sales are mostly confined to purchases for California and the West. Rolled jaconets are in demand for small lots. Cambrics sell moderately, but the inferior qualities are hardly inquired for. Silesias show some improvement, and prices are a shade better. Muslin delaines are only in moderate demand, without variation in prices. For Italian cloths there is a better inquiry. Cloths are more inquired for; but they are still dull, and but little pro[illegible]

[illegible] of an active market for woolens of any kind. The large clothing manufacturers are doing more in the way of fancy cassimeres and satinets than they have been, but very little demand for these goods comes as yet from the jobbers. Kentucky jeans are inactive. In carpets the demand is very small and prices unchanged. The spring demand has not yet commenced. Flannels are without change, but prices are irregular. In foreign goods of all kinds there is a very stagnant feeling, though there have been considerable auction sales during the week. The steamers now arriving from Europe bring considerable invoices of French fancy goods, silks and muslins for the spring trade; but, compared with last year, the importations are light for the season.—Independent of the 23d.

CINCINNATI PROVISION MARKET.

CINCINNATI, January 24, 1868.

The provision market has ruled steady and quiet during the week, with but little change in price. The little demand we have, has been for consumptive orders—no speculative feeling existing. The feeling is generally better, than it has been on most articles, but think it is rather premature. The bulk of the exports have been consigned, in hopes of meeting a better market at other points than here, and in some cases it has been realized, and thus our supply to fill the small immediate order trade we get, has been somewhat restricted, but next week there will be plenty of bacon out and we may look for easier prices. The market closes firmer than it has for a week past, without any particular good cause. Mess—are quiet done; the few that are being received are being taken mostly by bu chers; they sell at $4 50@7 10 gross and $7 75@8 30 nett. The receipts to-day were only 25 for the week, 87 [illegible] and for the season, 387,828. Green Meats—none offering to-day; nominally, 6¾ 9, @11@11½c, for shoulders, sides and hams. Mess pork—best city brands are held at $21 00, but buyers do not offer over $20 50 and 20 50 less for country. Some more inquiry has been some inquiry for this article, with a few sales at $15@ but holders generally demand $15 10@17, as in quality. Lard—has been in fair demand all the week at 12½@12¾c for country and city and generally held ½c higher, without finding many buyers. Some few lots have been sold at the outside figure. Grease—firmer at 8@10½c. for brown to white. Bulk Meats—the demand is moderate, and shoulders, sides, clear ribbed and clear sides sell at 9, 10,10¾ to 10¾ @11@11½c. packed. Bacon—but little out of smoke, some are held at 9@10, 11¼@11½c. to come out next week, for shoulders, sides, and clear sides, all packed. Sugar cured hams, 15@16c. as to reputation of brand. Plate Beef—scarce and firm at $20 00@21 00. Beef Hams—$30 00 per bbl., of 220 lbs.

FRENCH MEDICINES PREPARED BY GRIMAULT & COMPANY

Chemists to His Imperial Highness Prince Napoleon.

THESE different medicines represent the most recent medical discoveries founded on the principles of chemistry and therapeutics. They must not be confounded with secret or quack medicines, as their names sufficiently indicate their composition; a circumstance which has caused them to be appreciated and prescribed by the faculty in the whole world. They widely differ from those numerous medicines advertised in the public papers as able to cure every possible disease, as they are applicable only to but a very few complaints. The most stringent laws exist in France with regard to the sale of pharmaceutical preparations, and only those which have undergone an examination by the Academy of Medicine, and have been proved efficacious, either in the hospitals or in the practice of the first medical men, are authorized by the government. This fact must be a guarantee for the excellency of Messrs. GRIMAULT & CO.'S medicines.

Dr. Leras' (Doctor of Medicine) Liquid Phosphate of Iron.

The newest and most esteemed medicine in cases of CHLOROSIS, PAINS IN THE STOMACH, DIFFICULT DIGESTION, DISMENORRHEA, ANEMIA, GENERAL DEBILITY and POORNESS OF BLOOD. It is particularly recommended to regulate the functions of nature, and to all ladies of delicate constitution, as well as to persons suffering under any kind of debility whatsoever. It is the preservative of health par excellence in all warm and relaxing climates.

No More Cod Liver Oil—Grimault's Syrup of Iodized Horse Radish.

This medicine has been administered with the utmost success in the hospitals of Paris. It is a perfect substitute for COD LIVER OIL, and has been found most beneficial in DISEASES OF THE CHEST, SCROFULA, LYMPHATIC DISORDERS, GREEN SICKNESS, MUSCULAR ATONY and LOSS OF APPETITE. It regenerates the constitution in purifying the blood, it being the most powerful depurative known. It has also been applied with the happiest results in DISEASES OF THE SKIN. Further, it will be found to be of great benefit to young children subject to HUMORS and OBSTRUCTION OF THE GLANDS.

This new medicine is considered to be a sovereign remedy in cases of PHTHISIS and other DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It promptly removes all the most serious symptoms. The cough is relieved, night perspirations cease, and the patient is rapidly restored to health. N. B.—Be sure to see that the signature of GRIMAULT & CO. is affixed to the bottle, as this syrup is liable to imitations.

No More Difficult or Painful Digestion—Dr. Burin du Buisson's (Laureate of the Paris Imperial Academy of Medicine) Digestive Lozenges.

This delicious preparation is always prescribed by the most reputed medical men in France in cases of derangement of the digestive functions, such as GASTRITIS, GASTRALGIA, LONG AND LABORIOUS DIGESTION, WIND IN THE STOMACH and bowels, EMACIATION, JAUNDICE and COMPLAINTS OF THE LIVER AND LOINS.

Nervous Headaches, Neuralgia, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Instantly Cured by Grimault's Guarana.

This vegetable substance, which grows in the Brazils, has been employed since time immemorial to cure INFLAMMATION OF THE BOWELS. It has proved of late to be of the greatest service in cases of CHOLERA, as it is preventive and a cure in cases of Diarrhea.

Ferro Manganic Powder, prepared by Burin du Buisson, approved by the Academy of Medicine in Paris.

A small quantity of this powder in a glass of water is sufficient to obtain instantly an effervescing mineral and gaseous water to be drank at meals, either pure or mixed with wine.

It is a most valuable medicine for persons suffering from Chlorosis, Stomach Aches, and for Ladies suffering from Difficult or Suspended Menstruation. It is especially recommended to persons unable to digest the ordinary medicines containing iron. This celebrated preparation has the advantage to constipation, and to contain a certain portion of manganese, considered by the most eminent medical men as indispensable in cases of anemia.

No More Copaiba and Cubebs—Grimault's Capsules and Liquid Extract of Matico Vegetals.

Where all other medicines have failed these preparations will always effect a cure. They have been tried in the hospitals of Paris by the celebrated Dr. Ricord, and are found greatly superior to all hitherto known mineral remedies and copaiba and cubebs. The injection is used in recent and capsules in the more chronic cases.

Hon. H. F. Simrall, of Wilkinson, has removed to Vicksburg, as a better place to practice the law. He is a very able and accurate lawyer.

The Masonic Grand Lodge of Mississippi met at Natchez last Monday, under Hon. John T. Lamkin, of Holmesville, as M. W. G. M. It is its semi-centennial anniversary.

It takes twenty-one officers and salaried attendants to run the Mississippi Convention, and by the rules adopted, the President is authorized to appoint as many more as may be necessary.

We regret to record the suspension of the Vicksburg Evening Telegraph, which dies of "hard times and worse a coming." Colonel Manlove, its able editor, returns to the practice of the law.

The Woodville (Miss.) Republican, of the 18th, says: "Ex-president Davis arrived in Woodville on Saturday evening last, and is at present with his relative, Mr. Wm. Stamps. He is greeted with a wealth of welcome from all."

The Wesson Manufacturing Company has largely reduced its rates for cloths, yarns, etc., in view of the times, and the rates of the raw material. It makes wool and cotton mixed, cotton osnaburgs, and cotton and woolen yarns.

John G. Barry, an ancient typo, left Holly Springs a day or two since for Vicksburg, where he proposes to set type. Mr. Barry is eighty-three years old, and has worked at the printing business seventy years. In 1798 he was an apprentice in the office of the Moro District Gazette, then located at Nashville.

TENNESSEE ITEMS.

The Nashville Press and Times wants a military force sent to Dyer county, in order that the civil laws may be enforced.

Captain R. S. Tuthill, the newly elected Attorney General, has returned to Nashville from a trip North.

The Tennessee Legislature, by special act, extends State aid to the Mobile and Ohio railroad to the amount of $400,000! How are you, tax payers?

Newt. Clark, of Saulsbury, proposes to make a wager of $100 that he has a cur dog that can whip any specimen of the canine species in Hardeman county.

Captain Thomas S. Hays has purchased an interest in the Nashville Daily Union and Dispatch. He is now connected with one of the best papers in the Union.

The corporation of Jackson, Tennessee, is a healthy institution. The receipts of the city last year were $9,068 88; expenditures same time, $8,425 66; cash on hand January 7, 1868, $743 82.

The Trenton Gazette says: "The landing of [illegible]eamer at the wharf of our quiet little [illegible]ghbor town of Eaton is quite an event in [illegible] history. This feat was performed last week [illegible] Captain J. C. Berry, of the little steamer [illegible] Vail, recently built at Cincinnati for the [illegible]rked Deer trade."

ALABAMA ITEMS.

W. B. Figures, of the Huntsville Advocate, has been nominated for Senator by the negroes and mean whites of Madison county.

A negro was killed last week at Selma, by the caving in of a well he was curbing. Neither persuasion nor the threats of some soldiers could induce the other negroes who were present to attempt his rescue.

There was a fire in Montgomery on Tuesday morning. The livery stables owned by the heirs of the late R. B Owens, and rented by Mr. Hardy Wilkins, were burned. Loss, about $15,000.

Hon. James H. Scruggs, who announced himself as a candidate for Probate Judge of Madison county, has withdrawn since the late conference decided that non-voting is the proper policy.

The Huntsville Advocate (Radical) expresses gratification at the removal of S. S. Gardner, late of the Freedmen's Bureau in Butler county, and says that all other military officers who are using their offices to advance themselves, should be treated in the same way.

Judge Busteed is rapidly recovering from his wounds, and it is believed that he will be able to continue his court next week. We also learn that Judge Busteed has appointed S. C. Posey, of Limestone, as Register in Bankruptcy for the Sixth District, vice D. H. Bingham, deceased.

Mr. Wimberly, of Conecuh county, Alabama, deposited $5,980 in gold in a barrel of sugar, but some darkies wheeled the bank off one night, deposits and all. Only $1,400 of the money has been recovered, and there are twenty-eight darkies in jail who confess to having a hand in the transaction.

Gratitude—A Singular Story.

During "Price's raid," in 1864, a skirmish took place on the line of Chariton and Howard counties, some four miles from Glasgow, in which one of the Rebs was left on the ground dangerously wounded in the neck. While in this condition Miss Sarah J. Smith, a school teacher in the vicinity, happened to pass by. Seeing the wounded man, she went to him and staunched his wounds, probably saving his life. She remained with him until near nightfall, when he requested her to leave, as his companions would probably come in the night and take him away. If not, she would find him where he was in the morning, living or dead. He said he was known by the name of Tucker, but that his real name was H. C. McDonald, and that he was from Louisville, Kentucky. Next morning McDonald was gone, and Miss Smith knew nothing concerning him afterward. A few days ago, says the Glasgow Times, Miss Smith (who still resides in the neighborhood) received a letter from the administrator of H. C. McDonald, dec., informing her that she was named in the will of the deceased as the legatee of $50,000, in consideration of her having saved the life of his nephew and only [illegible] the H. C. McDonald named in connection with the incident of 1864. This is all [illegible], and the Times indorses its correct-

MULES AND CATTLE FOR SALE.

Immense Sacrifice of Property near Grenada, Mississippi.

I WILL SELL my valuable tract of Land lying in the valley of Yallabusha river, two and a half miles from Grenada, containing 1851 acres of land for Two dollars per acre; five hundred acres are cleared; good farm improvements on the place, and in better days valued at from twelve to fifteen dollars per acre. Its nearness to Grenada and the railroad makes it a commanding place. The timber on it alone, if judiciously managed, is worth three times the money.

With this place I will sell fifteen head of mules at $100 per head, making $1500, the cost of which was to me over $2,300. I will also include my stock of cattle at ten dollars per head, which includes three yoke of oxen and fifteen or twenty cows. The cattle may number thirty or forty head, more or less. I will throw in all the farming tools of the place to the purchaser and one mule wagon, and several sows and pigs that may be found on the premises.

Here is a bargain. Come with YOUR MONEY, as I SELL FOR CASH, and to leave the country which has been my home for thirty years.

THE DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

NO material which has ever been discovered has effected greater benefits in the household economy than

McGIMSEY'S MAGIC SOAP.

It is a labor saving invention as well as an invaluable remedy in scurvy, scald head, eruptions of the skin and piles. Dandruff is removed from the head, the teeth whitened and cleansed, plate and jewelry cleaned, stains effectually removed from carpets, furniture, clothes, paint, varnish or marble with the greatest facility and without injury to the material. It is a great saving of time and labor in washing clothes. It is the only known soap which will wash flannels with the ease of cotton or linen without fulling or shrinking. All these important objects can be effected without injury to the skin or the most delicate fabric. It possesses no deleterious qualities whatever. The world is challenged to produce a soap which possesses so many valuable properties, and which is so innocent and safe. It is a home invention, and defies competition in any part of the world. It has become a necessity in Memphis, and its use is rapidly spreading throughout the South, and eventually will extend over the Yankee States, North and South America, Europe, Asia, Africa and Oceanica. Manufactured solely by C. P. McGIMSEY, Memphis, Tenn., and can soon be found at any respectable family grocery or drug store. The proprietor is determined that its manufacture shall keep pace with the rapidly extending demand for its use.

DOMINION OF CANADA

Province of Ontario,

TEELEE ISLAND, LAKE ERIE

Grape Lands, Stone Quarries, Building Sites, etc., for Sale.

TEELEE ISLAND is situated on the west end of Lake Erie, at the extreme southern point of the Province of Ontario, about eight miles from the celebrated grape Islands of Ohio, viz: Kelly's and the Put-In-Bay Group. Teelee Island contains about six thousand acres of arable land, and a large portion of this is now offered for sale in quantities to suit purchasers.

Its shores are washed by the blue waters of Lake Erie, filled with the finest Fish, bass, white fish, pickerel, etc.; and whilst the lake affords the choicest sport for the disciple of Walton, it also warms our atmosphere and prolongs our season so that we have summer as long as Northern Georgia and Tennessee.

Cotton Ripens in the Open Air.

The finest varieties of GRAPES, MELONS, PEACHES, etc., grow to a perfection unknown upon the mainland. We desire more especially to call the attention of the men of the South to this beautiful and fertile land, both because it is in that Canada which gave an asylum and a welcome to many of their number during the sad war, and because [illegible] abolitionist anathemas now rule the land of their birth, [illegible] no longer afford them happy or profitable homes. A few Southern gentlemen are already with us, and we wish to form a society of men of the South, who desire at once a peaceful and a lucrative place of residence. Both for climate and soil we are peculiarly adapted for raising the finest varieties of Grapes, and large fortunes are yearly made from this most profitable crop.

For Summer Residences.

We offer the finest advantages for health and pleasure combined. A balmy air, the bluest and purest waters for bathing, boating, fishing and all aquatic sports, whilst from the large size of the island, (eight miles long,) there is ample space for horseback riding, etc. For particulars address F. B. McCORMICK, M. D., Teelee Island, Kingsville, T. C., Province of Ontario.
